MEDICINAL.

I WILL TRY VEGETINE. HE DID, AND WAS CURED. Delaware, O., Feb'y. 16, 1877.

Mr. H. R. Stevens:

Dear Sir-I wish to give you this testimony, that you may know, and let others know, what Vegetine has done for me. About two years ago a small sore came on my leg; it soon became a large ulcer, so troublesome that I consulted the doctor, but I got no relief, growing worse from day to day. I suffered terribly; I could not rest day or night; I was so reduced my friends thought I would never recover; I consulted a doctor at Columbus. I followed his refrices; it did no good. I can truly say I was sdvice; it did ro good. I can truly say I was discouraged. At this time I was looking over my newspaper; I saw your advertisement of Vegetine, the "Great Blood Purifier" for cleansing the blood from all impurities, curing Huing the blood from all impurities, curing Humors, Ulcers &c. I said to my family, I will try some of the Vegetine. Before I had used the first bottle I began to feel better. I made up my mind I had got the right medicine at last I could now sleep well at nights. I continued taking the Vegetine. I took thirteen bottles. My health is good. The ulcer is gone, and I am able to attend to business. I paid about four hundred dellers for medicine and doctors behundred dollars for medicine and doctors before I bought the Vegetine. I have recommended Vegetine to others with good success. I always keep a bottle of it in the house now. It is a most excellent medicine.

Very respectfully yours, F. ANTHONI.

Mr. Anthoni is one of the pioneers of Delaware. Ohio. He settled here in 1834. He is wealthy gentleman, of the firm of F. Anthoni & Sons. Mr. Anothoni is extensively known, especially among the Germans. He is well known in Cincinnati. He is respected by all.

IMPURE BLOOD.—In morbid conditions of the blood are many diseases; such as salt rheum, ring worm, boils, carbuncles, sores, ulcers and pimples. In this condition of the blood try the Vegetine, and cure these affections. As a blood purifier it has no equal. Its effects are wonder-

CURED HER. Dorchester, Mass., June 11.

Dr. Slevens:

Dear Sir—I feel it my duty to say one word in regard to the great benefit I have received from the use of one of the greatest wonders of the world; it is your Vegetine. I have been one of the greatest sufferers for the last eight years that ever could be living. I do sincerely thank my God and your Vegetine for the relief I have got. The Rheumalism has pained me to such an extent, that my feet broke out in sores. For the last Dr. Stevens: that my feet broke out in sores. For the last three years I have not been able to walk; now I can walk and sleep, and do my work as well as over I did, and I must say I owe it all to your blood purifier, Vegetine.

MARGERY WELL.

VEGETINE.—The great success of the through which she so often glided and adorned Vegetine as a cleanser and purifier of the blood is, indeed, painful. But then, with such a success of the blood is, indeed, painful. is shown beyond a doubt by the great numbers housekeeper, what is left for me but to pursuwho have taken it, and received immediate re lief, with such remarkable cures.

VEGETIN IS BETTER THAN ANY MEDICINE. Henderson, Ky., Dec. 1877.

I have used H. R. Stevens' Vegetine, and like it better than any medicine I have used for purifying the blood. One bottle of Vegetine

A Genuine Widower.

"June 7. It is now a month since dear Mary left me. I begin to regain my composure but I am territly oppressed with a sense of loneliness. A thousand objects of interest upon which she daily looked, tend to keep her con tinually in my thoughts. There is her writing desk; the unfinished manuscripts lay upon the table; a note addressed to a friend, but owing to some circumstances never sent to her; an unfinished piece of fancy work kept for a stray hour's amusement; her books, her picturesindeed, everywhere the mute of jets which her eyes or flagers rested upon. And where is she now? comes to me with appalling fares. Shan we meet again? "July 9. It is recommended by my friends that I shall surrender housekeeping. Mrs. Agnew is constantly troubled with her servants. the children have grown very restless under her management, and Arthur refuses to obey her VEGETINE at all. It is thought I had better send the children to some good boarding school, and find some home for myself, where I shall be sut i set to less perplexity and sooner regain my former cheerfulness. "July 20. The decision is made, and I have been gathering all the relies of dear Mary's handiwork for her daughter Grass to preserve as a precious legacy. The dear children are at a well recommended school, and I take lodgings to morrow in a public house. It is thought I shall be more in society in such a place, and wear off the effects of my great loss. But the idea of quitting a home where I have enjoyed the most exquisite pleasures, where a bol charm seems to pervade even the apartmer through which she so often glided and adorned this course? I cannot had one half the his materials upon which Mary expended to much time. Mrs. Agnew says the servants must have carried them away. What was in drawers is mostly abstracted; but as I never gave attention to the minutiæ of what was contained in trucks and receptacles, but gave all the keys to my housekeeper, I have no means of knowing what has been purloined. But whoever is the ag gressor must suffer more by the gain than I can by the loss. "August S. I do not exactly enjoy this bustling whirl in which I live. I sometimes picture to myself a regathered family, where we can again garner up our wasted hopes, and sit by our cheerful fireside. If there were another Mary in this wide world who could but supply the place of her who has gone-but what have said? It is-it is scarcely five months since she left me, and I have every week since water ed her grave with my tears. "Sept. 20. Have not visited my dear wife's grave for three weeks. At first had alms giv ing, as if she were conscious of the neglect; but it is only the material form which is catombed-her gentle spirit would gladly spare me from all unnatural grief. How much the children need a home and a mother's care!

"Oct. 17. When I was first introduced to Amelia Blond, she at once reminded me of my dear wife. True, she is a mere girl compared with her-some fifteen years younger-but sail all the graces of womanhood are fully devel oped. It--heavens! I blush to enter it upon my journal! How Mrs. Agnew, my old house keeper, would glory in the fulfilment of her prophecy, made in my deepest bereavement. 'Mr. Herbert,' said she, 'your feelings will be materially changed in a few mouths, and in less than a year I predict your marriage .-Such violent grief never survives more than one season. I could have turned her from my threshold for such as ictimation; but, alas, how little we know ourselves! Mary, your image is still enshrined in my heart; but must I go weeping through the remainder of my journey because you were taken from my side? I met Dr. Front yesterday; he first ventured to joke me upon being married again. This led to a serious con versation upon the subject—the doctor has been through the depths of stiliction three succes sive times, and now is in the full enjoyment of domestic bliss. He argued no objection to Miss Bland but her age, but some girls at twenty are as fit to rule a household as others at lifty. I do not myself think her age an insuperable object tion; she will be more companionable to Oraca. But how do I know that she would marry a man so much her senior? The doctor says: 'How pattern of the wings are due to the scales. In some genera, such as Sesia, the scales are wanting over a large portion of the wings, which are then colorless or translucent. These scales appear to the naked eye like a fine dust, and their form only becomes, visible under a microscope. They are small discs, composed of two, or perhaps three, layers of exceedingly fine membrane, and are attached to the wing by a short stalk, so that they lie over each other in rows, like the slates on a roof, and cover the roots of the next row with their ends. They generally lie flat in one direction, with their ends turned toward the hind margin; but they are sometimes erect in certain parts of the wing, or opposed to each other, forming small raised patches. Their forms are very different, both according to the particular positions of the scales. They may vary, from being comparatively broad to very narrow and linear, so as to The very best thing for the purpose yet invented; invaluable to retailers. Call and exam time kind of scales called plumules, is only found in certain parts of the wings of some male but terflies mixed with the ordinary scales. The scales on the hind margin are often more or less deeply toothed. They are not only placed on the surface of the wing, but are also placed on one or more parts of the border, when they are called fringes, or cilia. lo the Micro Lapidopters the fringes are often composed of fine will you know unless you ask her. ? "November 4. Since my last entry in 16? ournal I have taken a great stept. The proposal to marry Amelia was accepted, and I find myself in a new world; the old, restless, discon solate feeling I have endured seems leaving mo. My weed is horribly rusty upon my hat, and outward marks of mourning are superfluous. I have thought I would not use any more crape surroundings. I must express my feelings to my dear friend to whom I so recently communicated my deep sorrow, well assured, however, that she will reply, 'Henry, I tremble for WINGS OF BUTTERFLIES .- The color and
